

Clinician quiz

World Antimicrobial Resistance Awareness Week 2026

Question	T / F
1. Hand hygiene, vaccination and appropriate antimicrobial prescribing help prevent the spread of antimicrobial resistance.	T / F
2. Antimicrobial stewardship aims to ensure antimicrobials are used appropriately to improve patient outcomes and reduce resistance.	T / F
3. Bacterial antimicrobial resistance is associated with one million deaths annually.	T / F
4. The theme for World AMR Awareness Week in 2026 is “One Health, one action: Prevent AMR now.”	T / F
5. All patients with infectious diarrhoea should be given three days of azithromycin.	T / F
6. In Australia, ciprofloxacin is the only orally available antibiotic that can be used to treat Pseudomonas aeruginosa infections.	T / F
7. Trimethoprim is the first-line option for empirical treatment of acute cystitis in non-pregnant adult females.	T / F
8. Globally, antimicrobial resistance is trending downward in the paediatric population.	T / F
9. Otitis media is usually a self-limiting viral infection.	T / F
10. Cefazolin can be used for surgical prophylaxis if the patient has had a severe immediate hypersensitivity reaction to penicillin.	T / F

For more information

Please visit: safetyandquality.gov.au/AMS

© Australian Commission on Safety and Quality in Health Care 2026